15 JULY ATTEMPTED COUP IN TURKEY AND FETHULLAH TERROR ORGANIZATION

In recent days, it seems that Gulen Community / Fethullah Terror Organization (FETO) and other terror organizations such as PKK and PYD have been used to damage the stability in Turkey, to separate its citizens deliberately, to betray the trust on democracy and politics and to make the environment in the country open for a possible external intervention. After 2013, all types of military or civil coups have been tried with this aim. 15 July Attempted Coup is the latest one. All available evidence shows that an internal military coup attempt was planned and made by a group (inside the Gendarme and Air Forces) who is related to a pro-junta gang (FETO) launched outside the chain of command in the Turkish Military Forces. In the last 70 years since transition to multi-party democratic system, Turkey has experienced 6 military coup attempts: on May 27, 1960; on March 12, 1971; on September 12, 1980; postmodern military coup on February 28, 1997; e- memorandum case on April 27, 2007 and the lately military coup attempt on July 15, 2016. It can be mentioned that especially since 2013, the factors of this coup attempt have been heard in the meaning that some attempts have been made in Turkey. In this regard, especially after 2013, Turkey has to confront with Gezi Park protests, 17/25 December FETO coup attempt via jurisdiction and PKK terror. The latest 15 July attempted coup can be regarded as the biggest terrorist attack in Turkey if considering the reasons and consequences of the coup. However, in all 81 cities such as Istanbul, Ankara, Gaziantep, Antalya, Rize, Malatya, Sakarya, Diyarbakir, Edirne, Urfa, Erzurum millions of people opposed this coup attempt and protected the national will on 15 July night. The Turkish nation (together with all political parties, the ruling party and the Government) acted together with the parliament’s ruling and Nationalist Movement Part (MHP) and opposition parties like Republican People’s Party (CHP) and the ruling party as one of the nights in which all political parties and mass media can be made proud of. The parliament’s opposition parties such as Republican People’s Party (CHP) and National Movement Part (MHP) acted together with the parliament’s ruling party, namely, the Justice and Development Party (AKP). They gathered in the Parliament on 15 July night in order to protect the democracy against this coup and did not leave the Parliament although the Parliament building was bombed. The declarations of the CHP and the MHP about protecting democracy have raised the reputation of the Parliament. By supporting the Government, the opposition parties have given a clear message that “Now you are ruling but we could rule in future. However, the only important thing is the continuity of the democratic system”. With this message, they clearly showed that Turkey is a country, which has already internalized the democratic system with all political parties (both the ruling and opposition parties). It was obviously seen that the Government can only be replaced in a democratic way. In short, the resistance of the Turkish nation and the shrewd attitude of all political parties, the ruling party and mass media against this attempted coup have shown that coups cannot be easily made in Turkey.

It should be obviously seen that FETO is a terror organization. Turkey considers this issue as a security problem because Gulen Community has been acting according to their own hierarchical structure outside the state hierarchy by forming their own universities, schools, mass media, police departments, military and judicial structures with the use of state facilities. So, FETO can be named as “parallel state structure” because it leaked to each mechanism in the state by forming its own hierarchy in judicial, police and intelligence services. Turkey’s reasons to struggle against parallel state structure should be understood correctly both inside and outside the country. This terror organization has attempted various coups by using their own hierarchical mechanism with guidelines taken from abroad for the last 3 years. After attempting coup on National Intelligence Service on February 7 and on public prosecutors on December 17/25, they wanted to achieve their aims via military forces on July 15. Not only the coup itself but also the timing of the coup is the puzzling fact. The results of this attempt can be harmful for the Turkish Military Forces in an environment in which a dreadful fight has been carried out against DAESH and PKK. Turkey has been fighting against several terror organizations at the same time. Most important of these organizations are DAESH and PKK. But among these organizations FETO, which has rooted inside the state mechanism sneakingly and probably cooperated with external powers, has a different structure regarding their methods. All these terror organizations are serious threats for Turkey’s national security and stability. That is why, as well as fighting against DAESH is a priority for the international community, so as fighting against FETO and PKK is the priority of Turkey. Frankly speaking, it is not correct to make a classification among the terror organizations like good/bad, beneficial/harmful or effective/useless. Like all other countries that have been suffering from terrorist activities, Turkey has been waiting for friendly and allied nations to express their support providing active policies in fighting against terrorism. We cannot say that DAESH terror is wildness, but PKK terror is resistance and FETO is a dialog centre, which only deals with educational activities, anymore. We, all countries, have to reject all types of terrorism totally and equally.
